

A total of 532 students, out of whom 149 are females graduated today from the Asmara Teachers Training Institute in certificate.

Asmara, 24 July 2010 – A total of 532 students, out of whom 149 are females graduated today from the Asmara Teachers Training Institute in certificate.

Speaking at the graduation ceremony, the director of the Institute, Mr. Alem Gebrekal, outlined the achievements registered in developing the education sector since independence. He further noted that there exists sufficient textbooks and other educational facilities in the Institute that play major in facilitating the teaching-learning process.

Also speaking on the occasion, Mr. Petros Hailemariam, director general of research and human resource development in the Ministry of Education, indicated that the Government is doing its level best to promote equitable educational opportunities across the nation.

The Asmara Teachers Training Institute is graduating students for the 16th time.