

Eritrean community members residing in Wuppertal city, Germany, voiced readiness to enhance their support to families of fallen heroes. They made the pledge at a meeting during which they expressed appreciation to the various development accomplishments being registered in the Homeland.

Asmara, 6 November 2012 – Eritrean community members residing in Wuppertal city, Germany, voiced readiness to enhance their support to families of fallen heroes. They made the pledge at a meeting during which they expressed appreciation to the various development accomplishments being registered in the Homeland.

The Eritrean community members said that extending such support is a demonstration of honoring the trust of fallen heroes, and aired out staunch resistance against anti-Eritrea agendas. They also donated more than 2,000 Euro in honor of the trust of martyrs, besides the pledge they made to grant regular financial support to 15 families of fallen heroes.