

A number of potential citizen investors residing inside the country and abroad said that the policy adjustments to be made in line with the government's new initiative to promote investment are a springboard to practical action.

Asmara, 19 December 2012 – A number of potential citizen investors residing inside the country and abroad said that the policy adjustments to be made in line with the government's new initiative to promote investment are a springboard to practical action. The citizen entrepreneurs who took part in the Second National Investment Conference explained that encouraging investment has significant input in creating new job opportunities, ensuring market stability, and above all strengthening the national economy.

Ms. Almaz Woldai and Mr. Tewolde Belai from Holland told Erina that the recommendations crystallized at the Conference and the government's goodwill to this end is a gateway to a period of new and promising investment prospects in the country. They further expressed conviction that such opportunity would remarkably give impetus to the national economy vis-à-vis the prevailing norm of hard-work among the citizenry.

My name is [Name] and I am a [Title] at [Company]. I am currently [Action] and I am looking for [Requirement]. I am interested in [Topic] and I would like to [Action]. I am available for [Availability]. I can be reached at [Contact Information].