

The inhabitants of Engulit village, Goluj sub-zone, voiced satisfaction with the commendable service that the new Elementary school in the locality is rendering. They further explained that students are in a position to save time and energy following the opening of the school.

Goluj, 21 December 2012 – The inhabitants of Engulit village, Goluj sub-zone, voiced satisfaction with the commendable service that the new Elementary school in the locality is rendering. They further explained that students are in a position to save time and energy following the opening of the school.

Reports also indicated that the availability of such facility has drawn more school registrations in the locality whose inhabitants comprise a number of families leading nomadic style of living.

Among the parents, Mr. Mohammed-Ali Idris said that the ongoing teaching-learning process has made positive impact in the community's awareness regarding education.

Mr. Hamd Osman from the Administration of Engulit Administrative area pointed out that the putting in place of various social service facilities in rural areas attests to the government's commitment to ensure social justice.