

Citing the observation of Yemeni journalists who conducted a working visit to Eritrea in connection with the 19th Independence Day anniversary celebrations, a Yemeni newspaper, Al-Sawra, said that manpower is Eritrea's main resource in development programs.

Asmara, 14 June 2010 – Citing the observation of Yemeni journalists who conducted a working visit to Eritrea in connection with the 19th Independence Day anniversary celebrations, a Yemeni newspaper, Al-Sawra, said that manpower is Eritrea's main resource in development programs.

An article that appeared in the newspaper indicated that the task of developing human resource is being given top priority in Eritrea and asserted that such endeavors would enable the country to attain higher level of prosperity.

The Yemeni newspaper went on to say that building human capacity in Eritrea begins with that of ensuring people's respect to law, and that substantial investment is being made by the people and Government to upgrade the vocational and academic potentials of nationals.