On the 22nd of February 2010 the united and resonant voice of Eritreans that echo the voice of truth and justice has been knocking the ears of the international community from the continent of Australia to the Western shores of the United States expressing discontent with the prejudiced decision by the Security Council against Eritrea.

The people of Eritrea that came out victorious winning global ploys for more than half a century are matured and conscious people with strong political experience. It is not for the first time, hence, for Eritreans living in the Diaspora to conduct huge demonstrations denouncing injustice and voicing righteousness. A peaceful demonstration by Eritreans is always characterized by the number of its attendants and its eminence and stands witness to the civility and unity of Eritreans. But above all, it is always a voice calling for truth and justice to prevail, and a moving voice that is welcomed by all who are for reason and righteousness.

The value that ensured Eritreans to successfully withstand and win over the policies of aggressions that were ensued by the Super Powers for more than half a century is what everyone witnessed on the 22nd of February, that is, our national unity. The Generation of Struggle accomplished an impossible task with meager resources at its disposal to make Eritrean independence a reality. Even the post independence years, it successfully contained an aggression that was meant to undermine our sovereignty with strong and united resistance strengthened through the long years of political experience. It proved that the attempts of our historical enemies to ruin our unity through the usage of different political ploys and maneuvers are impossible and futile.

Therefore, this historic demonstration that took place on February the 22nd has reiterated the fact that our unity and our values still endure, and the Eritrean people are still politically aware, as they were yesterday. It communicates a strong voice of opposition to the enemies of Eritrea, and whatever it is that they may try will fail. It is an angry public reaction of a united and conscious people.
